

Arizona Linguistics and Anthropology Symposium 9 May 2008 (Day 1)

Times are in 20-minute blocks; each talk is 15 minutes + 5 minutes for questions.

		Session 1		Session 2
		Begins	Ends	Begins	Ends
Student Union, Kiva Room, Welcome				8:00	8:15
Student Union, Kiva Room, Plenary 1, Rusty Barrett Is it any way might you could tell me how come am I not a English speaker?: Subject-auxiliary inversion and introspective methodologies in linguistics and anthropology
Student Union, Kiva Room		Begins	Ends	Student Union, Copper Room
Terra Edwards, The arbitrariness of resemblance—iconicity and referent projections in ASL		9:20	9:40	Brendan O'Connor and Gilbert Brown, Not for your average brain: metaphor as social practice in an underground hiphop community
Claire Ramsey, Language ideology and implications for language documentation: origin and extinction narratives of elderly deaf signers in Mexico City		9:45	10:05	Jody Talkington, The making of speech styles and authority personae in an urban classroom
Discussion		10:10	10:30	Irene Theodoropoulou, Stylization as a mechanism for denaturalizing identity
Break 1				10:35	10:50
Don Anderson, Cab-hailing and the micropolitics of gesture		10:50	11:10	Kaoru Amino, How they change topics: empirical study of "supportive" and "negative" speaking styles in mixed gender conversation
Simeon Floyd, Solar iconicity, conventionalized gesture and multimodal meaning in Nheengatú		11:15	11:35	Mie Hiramoto et al., "Oh god, men are such babies!": gendered expressions in Japanese anime and American English dubs
Bryan Meadows and Linda Waugh, Constructing objectivity/subjectivity in on-line texts: unpacking the contributions of verbal/visual modalities to textual interpretation		11:40	12:00	Discussion
Lunch				12:00	1:00

Conference information is available at: <http://linguistics.arizona.edu/azanli> or via email at AZANLI2008@gmail.com.

Arizona Linguistics and Anthropology Symposium 9 May 2008 (Day 1), Continued

Times are in 20-minute blocks; each talk is 15 minutes + 5 minutes for questions.

		Session 1		Session 2
		Begins	Ends	Begins	Ends
Student Union, Kiva Room		Begins	Ends	Student Union, Copper Room
Stefanie Jannedy and Micaela Mertins, The phonetics of Kiezdeutsch: the speech of Turkish adolescents in an urban context		1:00	1:20	Phil Cash Cash, The ecology of Nez Perce naming
Robert Lawson, Realisations of CAT and BIT in three Glaswegian communities of practice		1:25	1:45	Rebecca Greene, Language attitudes in Hiroasaki, Japan
Mariche G. Bayonas and Emilia Alonso Marks, Examining the effects of counterurbanization: sociolinguistic adaptations of existing local communities		1:50	2:10	Anna Boario, Communities of practice and the meaning of variable use of word-initial gemination in Italian adolescents
Break 2				2:15	2:30
Lauren Hall-Lew, Dialect variation in San Francisco English		2:30	2:50	Christina Leza, Grassroots indigenous discourse on "the border," land, and self
Dana Osborne, Identifying the pitch and duration ranges for enregistered utterances: Mexicano and White voice		2:55	3:15	Hilary Parsons Dick, Cumulative complaint: communicative practices as influencing Mexico-US migration
Rebecca Greene, Pitch accent use in Appalachian English		3:20	3:40	Carla Breidenbach, Deconstructing mock Spanish: an anthropological analysis of mock Spanish as racism, humor, or insult
Break 3				3:45	4:00
Student Union, Kiva Room, Plenary 2, Chris Potts The coin of the expressive realm
Second Annual University of Arizona Ethnographic Film Festival Haury Building, Room 216 (light refreshments will be served)
				5:30	7:00

Conference information is available at: <http://linguistics.arizona.edu/azanli> or via email at AZANLI2008@gmail.com.

Arizona Linguistics and Anthropology Symposium 10 May 2008 (Day 2)

Times are in 20-minute blocks; each talk is 15 minutes + 5 minutes for questions.

Session 1		Session 2
Harvill Building, Room 305		Harvill Building, Room 415
Begins	Ends	Begins	Ends
Harvill Building, Room 305 , Plenary 1, Claire Bowers Modeling in historical linguistics: trisecting computational methods, speech communities, and language change
	8:30		9:25
Harvill Building, Room 305		Harvill Building, Room 415
Begins	Ends	Begins	Ends
Madeleine Adkins, Staging Irish: the uses of an Irish English variety in and out of performance	9:30	9:50	Ke Zou, Diachronic verb movements in Chinese
	9:30		9:30
Alina Pajtek, 'I cook, therefore I am': a cross-cultural analysis of television cooking shows in Romania and the U.S.	9:55	10:15	Brook Hefright, Strategic bivalency and indexical order among the Bái of Southwest China
	9:55		10:15
Lal Zimman, "She's just a high-maintenance bitch": interpersonal drama and discourse continuity in reality TV	10:20	10:40	Heidi Harley, Roots, concepts, and the canonical use constraint
	10:20		10:40
Break 1		10:45	11:00
George Figgs, "We rep the CO, we get mile high love": the authentication of a local hip-hop scene	11:00	11:20	Adam Baker, Diana Archangeli, and Jeff Mielke, English s-retraction data suggest a solution to the actuation problem
	11:00		11:20
Renaë O'Hanlon, Sociolinguistic identities in Australian youth subcultures: the case of hip hop	11:25	11:45	Yosuke Sato, A choice function approach to English Jeopardy game questions
	11:25		11:45
Samira Hassa, Westernity, authenticity, diversity and nationalism: an analysis of selected Moroccan rap lyrics	11:50	12:10	Greg Thompson, Face, line and subjectivity in language
	11:50		12:10
Lunch		12:10	1:10

Conference information is available at: <http://linguistics.arizona.edu/azanli> or via email at AZANLI2008@gmail.com.

Arizona Linguistics and Anthropology Symposium 10 May 2008 (Day 2), Continued

Times are in 20-minute blocks; each talk is 15 minutes + 5 minutes for questions.

Session 1		Session 2
Harvill Building, Room 305		Harvill Building, Room 415
Begins	Ends	Begins	Ends
Harvill Building, Room 305		Harvill Building, Room 415
Begins	Ends	Begins	Ends
E. Summerson Carr, Confessional semiotics: the practice of reference in the performance of truth	1:10	1:30	A. Ashley Stinnett, Kirtan: chanting as materiality
	1:10		1:30
Robin Shoaps, A tropical retreat from the stress of Jihad : Rush Limbaugh, trope-ical attire and Guantánamo Bay	1:35	1:55	Eric Hoenes del Pinal, Singing the Word: language and interaction in the hymns of Q'eqchi'-Maya Catholics
	1:35		1:35
James S. Bielo, What kind of reformation? Semiotic ideologies among "emerging" evangelicals	2:00	2:20	Mizuki Miyashita, Blackfoot lullabies
	2:00		2:20
Break 2		2:25	2:40
Marcelle Mentor, Listening to the languages of South Africa: students' rights to their own language	2:45	3:05	Joon-Beom, Variable patterns of grammatical and 'pseudo' tag questions used by student attorneys in a mock trial
	2:45		3:05
Heidi Orcutt-Gachiri, Implications of the Kenyan political situation on indigenous language endangerment: how you can tell Gwen Thompkins of NPR was not interviewing young Kenyans in 2007	3:10	3:30	John Curran, Ideological diversity in spoken law: Massachusetts judges' jury instructions
	3:10		3:30
Rudi Gaudio, Talk of the Nation: pidgin English in Nigeria's new capital	3:35	3:55	Blake Stephen Howald, Variation of spatial reference in the institutionalized narrative of a serial offender: linguistic evidence for cognitive mapping as a reflection of environmental offense behavior
	3:35		3:35
Break 3		4:00	4:15
Harvill Building, Room 305 , Plenary 2, Jane Hill Anthropological models and historical linguistics: the story of Uto-Aztecan		4:15	5:10
Conference Party		6:00	10:30

Conference information is available at: <http://linguistics.arizona.edu/azanli> or via email at AZANLI2008@gmail.com.

Arizona Linguistics and Anthropology Symposium 11 May 2008 (Day 3)

Times are in 20-minute blocks; each talk is 15 minutes + 5 minutes for questions.

Session 1		Session 2
		Begins	Ends
Harvill Building, Room 305 , Plenary 1, Susan Philips How Tongans make sense of variation in the use of lexical honorifics
		9:00	9:55
Harvill Building, Room 305	Begins	Ends	Harvill Building, Room 415
	10:00	10:20	Lars Hinrichs, Reflexivity in multimedia ethnography
Mie Hiramoto et al., Hyper-gendered language in translation: language ideology seen in Gone with the Wind	10:25	10:45	Maisa Taha, The chemistry of style: mock accent and privileged subjecthood in the discourse of young Muslim-American women
Break
Jenny Davis, Now introducing "Grass in her hair": delineating native, gay, and two-spirit identity in drag	11:05	11:25	Barbra Meek, Language revitalization and the challenge of disjunctures
	11:30	11:50	Andy Wedel and Heather Van Volkinburg, Modeling simultaneous convergence and divergence of linguistic features between differently identifying groups in contact
Harvill Building, Room 305 , Plenary 2, Keith Walters Linguistics, anthropology, the media, and Arabic diglossia
		11:55	12:50

Conference information is available at: <http://linguistics.arizona.edu/azanli> or via email at AZANLI2008@gmail.com.